WEI-HAI-WEI.

THE EMPIRE'S OUTPOST.
ITS CONDITION, CAPABILITIES, AND PROSPECTS.

An interesting report on Wei-hai-wei, its value and its resources, has lately been presented to the Colonial Secretary by Mr. J. H. Stewart Lockhart, our Commissioner in the territory. Wei-hai-wei, it will be remembered, was leased to Great Britain by a Convention dated July 1, 1898, "in order to provide Great Britain with a suitable naval harbour in North China, and for the better protection of British commerce in the neighbouring seas." The leased territory lies in latitude 37° 30' N., longitude 122° 10' E., and is situated in the Chinese province of Shangtung. It comprises the island of Liu Kung, all the islands in the bay of Wei-hai-wei, and a belt of land ten English miles wide along the entire coast line. The total area is about 285 square miles. In addition to the leased territory proper, there is a zone of influence, lying east of the meridian 121° 40' extending over an area of 1,500 square miles.

AN EASTERN HEAVENLY RESORT.

One of the strongest points in favour of Wei-hai-wei is its climate, which is a most excellent one, second to none in the East. It compares most favourably with Shanghai, Hongkong, and other ports, and is better than that of Japan. Invalids from the South feel the benefit of the change almost at once. In the opinion of Major S. A. R. A. M. C., who has resided there for four years, and can, therefore, speak with authority, the dependency should be the sanatorium of the Far East from Singapore northwards. For periods of short leave from the Straits and Hongkong it should prove most useful for invalids. The summer heat is never really excessive, and being of a dry nature, never causes that feeling of lassitude so common, for instance, during the summer in Hongkong. June, July, and August are the warmest months. The fact that punkahs are seldom used shows that the heat is not felt to any great extent. Those who visit this place are at once sensible of the benefit of the change. Speaking from his own experience, the Commissioner states that the country seems to be one of the few places in the Far East which can be described as "a white man's country" the year round.

The value of such a climate to a Power like Great Britain, possessing such immense interests in the Far East, is apt to be overlooked. The sight of 7,000 bluejackets in the harbour of Wei-hai-wei on Coronation Day, the 9th of August last, enjoying a delightful climate while their less fortunate mates were sweltering in other parts of China, or even Japan, was an object-lesson which might have helped even the most pessimistic to realise that Wei-hai-wei, on account of its climate alone, is a valuable dependency of the Empire.

DISADVANTAGES OF ISOLATION.

One disadvantage which tells heavily against the place is its isolation. If Wei-hai-wei is to progress, its communications with the outside world must be improved. Many persons have been deterred from visiting the territory on account of the difficulties of reaching and leaving it. With a view to remedying to a certain extent the present unsatisfactory state of affairs, a contract is being entered into to run a steamer weekly between Shanghai and Wei-hai-wei. It is to be hoped that this arrangement may aid the development of the dependency. Formerly there was no suitable pier on the island at the mouth of the harbour available for the use of the general public. To meet this want a stone pier has been erected and has been found to be of great use. The pier on the mainland at Port Edward, which was constructed in 1901, proved to be too low, which rendered landing and embarking at high tide a somewhat wet process. The question of the erection of a pier in deep water on the mainland, alongside which steamers may be able to load and discharge cargo, is now engaging attention. It is evident that if trade on the mainland is to be developed, such a pier will be a necessity. A market at Port Edward has been completed, and is now occupied, and an abattoir has been erected on the island.

A POTENTIAL TRADE CENTRE.

The trade prospects of Wei-hai-wei have been much discussed during the past year both in the Press and elsewhere. The opinions expressed have been either very optimistic or unduly pessimistic. The facts of the case do not seem to justify the holding of either extreme view. While on the one hand the situation of Wei-hai-wei does not seem to warrant the anticipation that it will become a second Hongkong, on the other hand it possesses potentialities which, if fostered, ought to entitle it to rank higher than that of a second-class watering-place. With the German colony of Kiaochow on one side, where every effort is being made to attract the trade of the Shantung province by means of a railway system, which is to extend ultimately from Kiaochow to Chinan, the capital of the Shantung province, and with the Chinese port of Chefoo on the other side, which has for many years been the commercial port and outlet of the trade of that province, it is easy to see that Wei-hai-wei has formidable difficulties against which to contend in its attempt to obtain a share of the trade of this part of the world, though its harbour, which is the best in China north of Hongkong, and the fact that it is situated in the direct line of trade, are points in its favour.

MANUFACTURES AND COMMERCE.

Although the year 1902 cannot be looked upon as a prosperous one for trade in North China, Wei-hai-wei saw signs of a commencement on the part of the Chinese to take an interest in local trade. Undoubtedly, they realise that with cheap labour, good anchorage for junks, freedom from molestation and petty official bribery, and the great advantage that is obtained through the freedom from Customs duties, Wei-hai-wei is admirably suited for manufacturing purposes, and the recent rise in the price of conveniently-estimated land clearly tends to corroborate this. Lack of local capital and, until recently, the uncertain knowledge of the political intentions of the Government as to the future, have done much to arrest development, and it is to be hoped, now that commercial facilities are being promoted, capitalists from the south of China, who are interested in the local produce and manufactures, may find sufficient inducement to start considerable industries.

Then there is a considerable and growing shipping tonnage. Exclusive of Admiralty colliers, Government transports, and a small steamer running with mails to and from Chefoo, 146 steamers passed through Wei-hai-wei in 1902, being an increase of 31 steamers over the preceding years. This increase being undoubtedly due to the expansion of trade, combined with the commercial facilities afforded by the Colonial Office under the régime of the present Commissioner, it is only reasonable to suppose that the trade of the port in the future will attain considerable dimensions. The total registered amounted to 151,809 tons.

Stated shortly in figures, the bulk of cotton yarn and piece goods dealt with in 1902 was 1,500,000 piculs, refined sugar 4,125,000, wines, spirits, beer, aerated waters, &c., 7,381 packages, tinned provisions and foreign stores 16,633 packages.

HOPEFUL SYMPTOMS: NATIVE LOYALTY.

Among other symptoms of good augury for the future, none promise better than the evident contentment of the population with British rule. This was abundantly manifested during the Coronation period. Addresses to His Majesty the King were not only presented by the British and Chinese residents of the territory, but also by the Chinese residing in the city of Wei-hai-wei, who are still under the jurisdiction of China. Nothing could more clearly show the good feeling that exists between the Chinese and the British than the alacrity with which the latter joined in the rejoicings at the Coronation. And when they presented their elaborately embroidered scrolls, the Chinese were not content with merely handing them in, but requested them to be hung up "coram populo," so that they might publicly show their respect for the King by knowing before them in the same manner as they would have done, under similar circumstances, in honour of their own Emperor. The request was granted and each member of the Committee performed the kowtow in the presence of a large assembly of his countrymen. This is one of the most striking testimonies of respect for a foreign rule on the part of the Chinese that experienced men have ever witnessed.

Our Commissioner sums up his conclusions as follows:—Taking all things into consideration, I think the progress made during the past year may be regarded as satisfactory. There can be no doubt that the various changes in the administration of this dependency and the uncertainty that existed in the mind of the public as to the policy of the Imperial Government regarding Wei-hai-wei have tended to impede the development of this place. But now that the administration is more settled and the public is beginning to realise that every encouragement will be given to trade, it is hoped that in the future commercial enterprise show increased activity.

THE south coast of Java is so thinly inhabited that it swarms with tigers. The evil is now becoming worse than ever from the Government having done away with the rewards offered for killing them. The result is that, within the last two or three years, the tigers, owing to hunters having left them alone, have come closer and closer to the villages. They not only carry off cattle and horses, but also attack men and women working in the field. A cry now arises for the restoration of the reward system.

By kind permission of Major Radcliffe and Officers of the Band of the 33rd Burma Infantry will play at the Hongkong Hotel to-morrow (Saturday) evening from 8 to 9.30 p.m.

EARLY this morning at Yau-ma-ti, while a Chinese couple were in the land of slumbers, they were rudely awakened by a noise in the kitchen. They got up, struck a match and found a thief busily searching for something to take away. As soon as he saw that he had attracted attention, he ran passed the two inmates of the house and rushed down the stairs, but was met face to face by P. C. No. 47. The rogue, who is an apprentice boot-maker, will have to learn another trade during his three months' incarceration, the first and last weeks to be passed in solitary confinement.

THE London correspondent of the Manchester Dispatch understands that a long telegraphic dispatch has just reached the Foreign Office from Sir Ernest Satow giving a detailed account of his interview with Lord Curzon at Simla. That Sir Ernest should have broken his journey to Peking at such a time has excited much interest in official quarters, and this interest has not been lessened by the length of the dispatch which he has sent home. There is no doubt, however, that the interview between the Ambassador to China and the Viceroy had to do with highly important plans which are contemplated both by British and Indian advantage in China, and for the carrying out of which Sir Ernest has stipulated, and has obtained, an absolutely free hand.

THE Pollard Comedy Company presented Charles's Aunt at the Theatre Royal last night with great success. To-night they stage the enormously successful laugh-maker Turned Up which will be repeated to-morrow; their farewell night.

On the 12th inst., the carcass of a bullock was found in the jungle near the 8th mile on the Cheras road, Kuala Lumpur. Examination showed that the beast had been killed by a tiger and dragged into the undergrowth for a matter of fifty yards. A local sportsman watched over the carcass for some hours, but without result.

FIVE celestials were charged at the Magistracy this morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 each, or three months' hard labour, for having six tons of coal on their junk reasonably suspected to have been stolen. They stated that the coal was loaded from a godown in Wanchai, but they could not point the place out when required to do so.

A CHINESE girl, eight years of age, received a nasty cut on the shin yesterday inflicted by a carpenter. It is alleged that the girl was picking up shavings on the side walk, outside the carpenter's shop. He objected to her being there, and in a fit of temper threw his chisel at her which resulted in the cut. At the Magistracy this morning before Mr. T. Sercombe Smith the carpenter was sentenced to two months' hard labour, and to pay $10 compensation to the little girl.

MR. James Toppin, a clerk, lost a gold watch, value $25, some time on the 15th July last. He made several attempts to recover it, but all in vain; so he placed the matter in the hands of the police, with the result that a few days ago a native was found with the watch in his pocket. When asked where he got it from, he said he bought it in Macao. At the Magistracy this morning before Mr. T. Sercombe Smith the celestial was sentenced to three months' hard labour, the last week to be spent in solitary confinement.

COFFIN breakers' trade is again revived by passengers on the Canton steamboats. A native passenger per the Hankow, which arrived here yesterday afternoon, as soon as the boat steamed alongside the wharf, got hold of another man's trunk and came ashore with it, and on his way home had to alter his course and follow a policeman to the station. The contents of the trunk were then turned out, and a promissory note to the value of $250, and other valuables found amongst them. The man was sent to gaol this morning to undergo a sentence of six months' hard labour.

MR. N. W. Melvor, former American Consul-General at Yokohama, has lately been the recipient of a distinguished honour, having received from the Emperor of China the Order of the Double Dragon, a distinction rarely given except to those of Royal or princely blood. It will be remembered, says the Japan Advertiser, that during the China-Japan war the care and protection of the Chinese in Yokohama were under the keeping of Mr. Melvor, and it is manifest that the Chinese Government has highly appreciated the manner in which the service was rendered. The presentation was made through Mr. Conger, U.S. Minister to Peking. The decoration is one of much beauty.

AT 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon a group of idle natives were standing outside the Shaikwan theatre. A native stranger standing in the midst was pushed about roughly by the crowd, and feeling into his pocket to find his time-piece he found that it was gone. The thief, who is a noted character and had been sentenced several times for snatching purses, etc., as soon as he got hold of the watch, bolted down the street. But as he was turning round the corner half tired and nervous, he ran into the arms of a native detective. A few minutes later the stranger, who gave chase but was prevented by the crowd, came up and recognised the thief as being his chum at the theatre. Mr. Sercombe Smith sentenced him to three months' hard labour.

A WASHINGTON telegram of the 13th ult. states that Minister Conger at Peking has informed the State Department that Wu Ting Fang, formerly Chinese Minister to the United States, has been appointed second assistant in the corps of under secretaries. "While," says Conger, "this gives Mr. Wu nominally only a clerical place, yet it makes an opportunity for utilizing his foreign knowledge and experience, if the Foreign Office so desires." Minister Conger reports also that Wren Fank has been promoted to the position of first secretary, or director, of the Board of Foreign Affairs, vice Na Tung, the present president of the Board of Revenue, and that Ku Pi Hsin has been appointed second secretary and director of the Board of Foreign Affairs.

THE London correspondent of the Manchester Dispatch understands that a long telegraphic dispatch has just reached the Foreign Office from Sir Ernest Satow giving a detailed account of his interview with Lord Curzon at Simla. That Sir Ernest should have broken his journey to Peking at such a time has excited much interest in official quarters, and this interest has not been lessened by the length of the dispatch which he has sent home. There is no doubt, however, that the interview between the Ambassador to China and the Viceroy had to do with highly important plans which are contemplated both by British and Indian advantage in China, and for the carrying out of which Sir Ernest has stipulated, and has obtained, an absolutely free hand.

THE Committee of the Hongkong Jockey Club, having decided to revert to the China pony for racing, has placed an order with the Shanghai Horse Bazaar Co., Ltd., for the supply of Subscription China griffins for their next Race meeting. The list has not closed, but it is thought that probably 75 to 80 will be about the number of ponies required.—Sport and Gossip.

THE Midland Railway express for Scotland has established a record, as the fastest regular train between London and Carlisle. After leaving St. Pancras, the express stopped five minutes at Trent and six minutes at Leeds, arriving at Carlisle in 5 h. 40 min. The 113 miles from Leeds to Carlisle, including the ascent of 1,100 ft. in Yorkshire, was covered in 121 minutes.

THE battle-ship Jena is one of the latest additions to the French navy. Although the Jena was laid down at Brest in January, 1898, and launched nine months later, she has but recently been completed. The Jena displaces 12,051 tons and is supposed to be capable of eighteen knots with forced draught. She is one of the vessels fitted with three screws. She is well protected with a water-line belt, but the protection of her secondary armament leaves something to be desired. Her thickest armament is fourteen inches. A peculiarity about her is the manner in which her military tops are closed in. She carries four twelve-inch guns, mounted in pairs forward and aft; eight 6.4-inch guns and smaller weapons. Her triple expansion engines, supplied with steam by twenty Belleville boilers, develop 13,500 horsepower. Her cost was $5,500,000 (gold).

VICTORIA HOME, KOWLOON CITY.

Miss Hamper writes in the leaflet From Month to Month, issued by the Hongkong Church Missionary Association, as follows:—"We have been here now six months and certainly so far it has proved a change for the better. The free life of the country suits the class of girls we have to deal with much better. We have a good deal of outside work as well. Two Bible women are at work in Kowloon, and the villages round. Miss Bachlor and I visit with them and find a ready entrance into the houses. In three of the villages there are inquirers who are being taught regularly; they are busy in their fields all day long, but come whenever possible to a meeting on Thursdays and to service on Sundays. Our Day Schools are well attended. Hungnam has over 30 scholars, Kowloon over 40, the Anglo-Chinese Boys' School over 30. The Chinese have opened one within the City Walls for the study of English and Japanese, and they hope to include German.

At the V. R. C.'s enclosure yesterday afternoon the Lusitano representatives met the team of the V. R. C. in the pond. At 5.55, the game started and the ball was tossed to and fro without any result. Jorge then got hold of the leather, which was passed to Barros, and with a good sail down two dangerous tries were made, but were well warded off by the goalkeeper (Lammer) and with a third good throw Barros sent the ball home. The leather was again centred, good passing, but slow work, was exhibited on the part of the V. R. C.'s team, and when nearing the opponent's goal Millar sent the leather full speed into their goal. Thus two goals were scored in less than ten minutes.

After a slow game the Lusitanos, who are a far superior team, won by 5 goals to 1. Frank Jorge played a good game, scoring 4 goals, while Lammer (V.R.C. goalkeeper) managed the ball well. Chunyat, who is very slow in taking down the ball when in his possession, requires a little more practice in swimming. The remainder of the players did well.

On Saturday, 29th inst., there will be an aquatic entertainment at the V.R.C. enclosure. The Committee requests us to state that ladies are cordially invited for the occasion. The following programme has been arranged, the first race starting at 4.30 p.m.

1. Team Race (7 aside)—V. M. C. A. v. Lusitanos.
2. Two Lengths (Handicap).
3. Exhibition Diving.
4. Tub Race, and a game of Water Polo.

GOLF IN CHINA.

A naval officer gives a diverging account in Golf Illustrated of how the Royal and Ancient game is played in China. Little did the combatants at the bombardment and torpedo attack on Weihaiwei imagine, he says, that in eight years the then impregnable fort was to become a favourite putting green for golfing naval officers. Yet this is what has happened, and not only at Weihaiwei, or Port Edward as it is now called, but at almost every port on the China station. In some cases the greens on these links are excellent, and compare favourably, we are told, with those at Hoylake and St. Andrews. But at Port Edward there are no putting greens, the holes being made in hard rolled sandy gravel, and golfers are obliged by the rules to play only in indianrubber-soled or rope-soled shoes, while on wet days play is forbidden altogether. The caddies are Chinese "boys," whose ages vary from about twelve to fifty; instead of one caddy to each player, two are necessary—"one to carry the clubs, the other to go in front to spot the balls, this latter official being termed the 'look-see boy'." One of the holes is at the top of a precipice one hundred feet high, and the course is further hampered by rocks, walls, and even a rifle range. In spite of all this the naval officer plays golf in China with a fine relish, and is succeeding in making the game increasingly popular.

The Accident to Mountaineers.

LONDON, 19th August.

The tourists, previously reported killed while ascending the Aquila Crise, fell into a crevice and were only injured.

The "America" Cup.

The Reliance and the Shamrock III. were measured yesterday. The Reliance allowed the challenger 14 minutes.

The overall length of the yacht is 137 feet. Her beam, that much disputed point and regarding which so many distorted reports have flashed under the Atlantic and have been published abroad, is 21 feet 3 inches. Her draft is greater than that of Shamrock II and less than Shamrock I, being quite 20 feet 9 inches. Yachts have also been told about this feature of the craft, and her real draft may be surprising to some. The new boat, instead of being of high displacement, has a heavy displacement—not far from 150 tons. She has very slack, easy bilges and a distinct floor. The bilges run with an easy sweep into the keel or fin with full garboard, so that the midship section is of the S form, and there are no distinct straight surface lines of floor at any point. Her dead rise is greater than that of Shamrock I or Shamrock II. Her greatest immersed transverse section is about twenty-four feet abait her mast. The original lines are round, without any semblance of straightness being observable. The fin or keel, is very thin at the upper part, and widens at the bottom to about forty inches. It is from seven to eight feet shorter than that of Shamrock I. The lead is full and blunt forward. Her after overhang is about twenty-four feet, and the forward overhang twenty-three feet. The rake of her sternpost is about the same, and also in the same position as that of the Shamrock I, the fin being short and at the forward end. The greatest draft of the boat is at the heel of the sternpost, and then it rises forward in a straight line about one foot in twelve. The sail plan of the challenger has about the same area as Shamrock I, though it is differently arranged. The perpendicular of the sail plan will be 5.5 or seven feet higher than on Shamrock I. Her boom will be about three feet shorter than that of Shamrock I, and her forward triangle will exceed the same number of feet. Her great mast is twenty inches above the bottom and twenty-eight inches at the hounds. It carries nine feet in two thicknesses of plating, nine-eighths of an inch each, and has eight full length longitudinal stiffeners and rings every ten feet. With her short and high sail plan the new challenger ought to handle well under all conditions. All who have expressed an opinion on the point believe her best point of sailing is on the wind, one of the points in which the Reliance excels. With very correct figures to guide them, it has been estimated by the interested that the new Shamrock may receive about 1 min. 45 sec. from the Reliance in the races to come. Is it enough to make the Shamrock a winner? The answer has been an emphatic negative—Ed., H.K.T.

The Near East.

Russia has presented supplementary demands of a political nature to the Porte.

The movements of the Russian Squadron is now producing alarm in Constantinople where it is believed to portend further demands. The squadron anchors in Inada Bay 80 miles to the North-West of the Bosphorus.

The Albanians have broken out in serious revolt between Monastir and Uskub, in which latter district a reign of terror prevails. The situation at Salonika is critical.

EX-GOVERNOR WANG CHIH CH'UN.

From "Notes on Native Affairs" in the N. C. D. News we clip the following:—Ex-Governor Wang Chih-ch'ün of Kwangsi, concerning whom there was a report in the Northern papers that he had been ordered to be arrested and thrown into prison, according to a Peking letter, has been pardoned. Through the intercession of his fellow provincial, the Grand Councillor, Chü Hung-chi. It appeared that a Censor had also denounced the Ex-Governor, accusing him of certain crimes, and the Emperor Dowager was on the point of issuing an edict commanding his arrest and further punishment but was dissuaded from doing so by Chü Hung-chi, who said that there are others worse than Wang Chih-ch'ün, yet at large, and that under the present state of unrest in the country it would be impolitic to punish high officials whose worst fault was that "they had not enough troops under them." Further, as her Majesty had already cashiered the man and reduced him to the ranks it was punishment enough for Wang under the circumstances.

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

It appears that Mr. E. A. Hewitt's proposal to establish a society in Hongkong for the prevention of cruelty to animals is about to assume practical form. A public meeting to inaugurate the society is called for Friday next at 5 p.m. It is to be held at the City Hall and the Governor will preside.

A recent number of the Siam Free Press to hand to-day reproduces our editorial comments on Mr. Hewitt's recent proposal, and in its leading article dealing with the subject observes:—

We notice that Hongkong papers are agitating against cruelty to animals, a fact that goes to show that no. alone in Hongkong is the dumb creation subject to wanton ill-treatment. However, compared with Bangkok, Hongkong is a regular Paradise for animals, by all accounts, and still our humane brethren of that happy sea-girt rock—figuratively styled: "The Valley of Fragrant Waters," as the name leung-keang implies—are vigorously pleading for better treatment to animals. Mr. E. A. Hewitt has a long letter in the Hongkong Telegraph wherein he eloquently pleads the urgent necessity that exists for the formation of a local society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Our Hongkong contemporary is of opinion that the grounds upon which that gentleman urges the necessity for the provision of such an institution in Hongkong are sufficiently convincing.

If such can be said of Hongkong, what must we say of Bangkok, where not only 34 cases in a year but dozens of cases may be seen daily, in all quarters of the city, of the most harrowing nature. Perhaps in no other city in the civilised world are animals so cruelly treated as in Bangkok. Pigs and other animals may be seen daily conveyed with loaded bodies and their legs tied with hard cords and suspended from bamboos. The excruciating pains which such poor creatures experience as they are jerked along on the shoulders of coolies must be something terrible, and even worse than the tortures of vivisection. Where the animals are of any size the force of their own weight strains the cords so much that the very bones and sinews are laid bare, and the poor brutes in their sufferings is something to move even the most callous hearts to pity. Not only are porkers carried to market in this cruel manner, in Bangkok, but all manner of the feathered tribe including ducks, fowls, etc. And sometimes even sheep and cattle, destined for the slaughter-house, may be seen conveyed in this savage way. For wild furious driving and ill-usage to ponies, the Bangkok syce easily takes the palm. These docile and useful little animals are most shamefully and cruelly treated, especially away from the eyes of the owner. The same of course applies to livery stables in particular. How frequently are jaded and over-worked little ponies belaboured in the most brutal fashion in the public streets, when their strength is exhausted and their burthen becomes too great for their drooping vigour. In such circumstances they are prodded, goaded and goaded until through sheer madness of torture they are forced to go beyond their strength, and sometimes in the effort they drop dead. What astonishes the foreigner in these shores, is the fact, that in a Buddhist country such as Siam, where their creed forbids the natives to injure or even destroy the life of the smallest insect, to see such wanton cruelty and destruction of life in the animal kingdom. Natives bet heavily on cock-fighting, fish-fighting, in ect-fighting, etc., and can spend days enjoying the "fun" without any remorse. We could write volumes on the subject of "cruelty to animals" in Siam, but the fact we have stated will show how much we stand in need of some rules to bring about a state of amelioration. We have frequently reverted to this subject, in former issues, but as our Hongkong contemporaries are so earnest in the matter in that colony, we think the moment opportune for a similar movement in Bangkok.

RUSSIA AND COREA.

A lease of Ryong-an has been concluded between the Korean Imperial Household and the Russian Timber Company. The whole district of Ryong-an is included in the lease and it is believed that the Russians intend to use the district for some other purpose than that of the timber trade. The powers are opposed to the lease, which they hold to be detrimental to their interests. They threaten to take a similar step in regard to Wiju and other places. A Tokyo despatch to the Mainichi states that an official report to the Government announces the lease of Ryong-an and that the whole affair will be made public shortly.

THE COUNTERVAILING DUTIES ON SUGAR.

GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT.

A Press communique says that the Government of India have decided to retain, until the 31st March, 1904, countervailing duties on sugar at the rates which may be in force on the 31st August, 1903. This decision is based on the ground that a great part of the sugar which will be available for export from bounty-giving countries up till the 31st of March will have actually received the bounties.

After that date the countervailing duties will cease to be levied on sugar produced in, and imported from, any country which may have abolished all bounties on or before the 31st August, 1903.

GERMANY'S TRADE WITH THE EAST.

Says the Times of Ceylon:—The increase in the number of German vessels calling at Colombo has been brought about by the establishment of regular steamer lines to trade with the Far East. In the eleven years since 1891 the freight carriers have been reinforced by the steamers of the Kinsing Line of Hamburg—whose vessels were later on taken over by the Norddeutscher Lloyd and the Hamburg-America Line—the Hansa Line of Bremen; the D.A.D.G., otherwise known as the Deutsche Australisch Dampfschiff's Gesellschaft, of Hamburg, and the Hamburg-America Line of Hamburg. Then the tremendous increase in tonnage was obviously the result of the entrance upon the scene of the huge ocean leviathans of the type of the "Grosser Kurfürst," "Friedrich der Grosse" and the "Barbarossa." When Germany turned her attention to the development of her trade with the Far East she soon showed that she was a competitor to be taken seriously, for she approached the matter in none of the dilettante spirit to characteristic of the Latin races who had hitherto been Britain's only real rivals in Eastern waters. The case of Siam is one of the most instructive upon German methods and the success which has attended them. So late as five years ago Britain still monopolised the shipping with that country; yet to-day we see Germany holding to per cent. of it, having bought up British steamers and added others. It is the legitimate reward of Germany's persistent and well directed efforts, and so quick and complete has been its consummation, that the over-confident British shipper is only just becoming aware, apparently, of the fact that the trade in which he felt that he had a prescriptive right is going elsewhere.

In 1897 Germany does not appear to have any direct trade with Ceylon. Five years later we find Germany entering the field as an exporter to Ceylon. The effort was highly insignificant, however, and only totalled Rs. 923. Exports from Ceylon, on the contrary, were represented by a much more substantial amount, viz. Rs. 178,498. In the succeeding seven years, Germany's onward march began in earnest. The enterprising Teuton was evidently satisfied with the results of the feeble he had thrown out, and realized fully that a very excellent market for German goods lay awaiting exploitation in Ceylon. The opening up of the trade was gone about in no half-hearted manner and both exports and imports increased in a manner little short of marvellous. France was easily outdistanced, and Germany took an easy second place to Great Britain and the Colonies. Ceylon's imports from Germany in 1891 had a value of Rs. 439,866 and her exports to Germany were worth Rs. 1,305,208. In 1902 these two sets of figures had increased to Rs. 1,525,013, and Rs. 6,590,987 respectively.

MORE WAR TALK.

Quiet as is the world, and promising as are the prospects of peaceful industry and trade, to all the nations, we are not yet out of danger of battle and war. From two centres come intimations of strife that menace the peace of the world. One of these is Port Arthur; the other is Constantinople. In the one the fate of Manchuria is involved; in the other the reorganization of the political condition of the Balkan states.

The report from Port Arthur is due to the recent conference there of a number of Russian officials of high rank in diplomacy, war and civil administration. A dispatch says that among the members of the conference were Minister of War Kuropatkin, Admiral Alexieff, the Russian Ministers at Peking and Seoul, the political agents in China and Korea, including Pokotiloff, recently Russian financial representative at Peking; General Dessoir, the military agent in China, the civil and military officers at Moukden, Harbin and Kirin, and the administrator of Newchwang.

Dignitaries to assemble in a place so remote from the seat of Russian government. Their proceedings, it is said, were "enveloped in profound secrecy." The mystery doubtless augmented the feelings of distrust with which the conference was watched, and we are told that the foreign commercial officials at Port Arthur and at Newchwang are convinced that the probabilities of war are increasing rapidly. They hold that the conference met for no other purpose than that of preparing for an open rupture with Japan and possibly with Great Britain.

The war rumours from Constantinople are of a similar character. It is said a council of war has been held at Yildiz Kiosk, and that the Turks have decided to send additional troops to the Bulgarian frontier ready to cross the border at a moment's notice. The action of the Turks is reported to be due to the continuance of disturbances and the fear that the European concert will not be able to keep the peace.

Neither of the reports is sufficiently serious to be deemed "alarming" for in each case the cry of coming war has been heard so frequently that the world no longer gives much heed to it. Nevertheless, the incessant repetition of such reports is in itself a proof of the unsettled and uncertain condition of affairs in North China and in the Balkans. So long as those conditions remain we shall never be sure of peace for as much as a year ahead, and the recurring rumours serve to remind us that there are still in the world of international politics a number of active volcanoes liable to break forth with violence at almost any unexpected time.—Ed.

A BIG PALACE ROBBERY.

We are informed (says the Siam Free Press of the 10th inst.) that another big robbery has been perpetrated at the Royal Palace some days ago. This has no connection with the late big jewel robbery, but, nevertheless, it is of far more importance, as it is said to have taken place within the royal Court in the Queens' chambers. The amount also is said to be considerable, the figures being put at close on a hundred thousand ticals. A quantity of very large diamonds of great lustre, very rare cut eyes, of immense value, large pearls and an amount of jewellery set with brilliants worth thousands.

All the pawn-shops of the city have been searched, but the particulars are not known, as strict orders have been given to keep the thing secret. Up to the present no clue has been discovered, but it is said that some women are suspected.

THE "TONKIN" OFF KAWASAKI.

Since the M.M. steamer Tonkin has been lying off the Kawasaki Yard, the work of clearing the ship of all the debris of the disastrous fire from which the fine vessel suffered a few days ago has been proceeding apace. The fore hold was almost cleared yesterday, says the Kobe Chronicle of the 12th inst., and everything taken away that was not a fixed part of the ship. The two decks that were affected by the fire have been cleared of a vast amount of ashes, burned wood, and fittings, and what before were the handsome first-saloon sleeping cabins, the confectioner's and cook's offices, the doctor's dispensary and other offices, is now one long stretch of blackened deck with a few iron upright supports. Everything is cleared away. It is difficult to convey a vivid idea of the state of this part of the ship. The appearance of the forecastle is not unlike some deserted iron works, where everything is bare, neglected, and rusty, although by now the place has been brushed and cleaned up, and a vast quantity of which put out of the way. It is a question whether the once valuable machinery in the forecastle—pumping machinery, etc., all of the best make, will ever be fit for use again. Its appearance at present is that of a mass of rusty iron; but in other respects it is of course intact, having been too heavy to be affected by the furnace heat to which the forecastle was subjected, when for twelve hours at least the flames roared within that part of the vessel. Other iron work, railings and such like, could not withstand the heat, and like the sheet iron decks, are warped and twisted. Among the piled-up rubbish here, was noticed a huge quantity of crockery, every little of evidence about the ship reminding with fresh force of the presence a few days ago of an unquenchable fire which could not be extinguished before it had burnt itself out, and could only be prevented with difficulty from spreading aft, when, if it had reached the abundant wood-work and upholstery of the saloons and cabins, it would inevitably have destroyed the ship.

We are informed from an authoritative source that the Tonkin will be placed under repair in Japan sufficient to stand the voyage home, but will be finished at the Messageries Maritimes Co.'s private yards near Marseilles. The vessel is of 6,600 tons gross, and is fitted in that elaborate manner for which the M.M. Company have long been famous. Teakwood is commonly used in the construction and wood furnishing, and her machinery, as has already been noticed, was of very superior finish. Although unable to obtain the exact cost of the vessel, calculating on the usual basis, the Tonkin cost about £288,000, and the extent of the fire on board would suggest that over a quarter of the ship has been rendered almost valueless—including a large proportion of the passengers' cabins and officers' quarters on the bridge, main and tween decks.
